FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS

Ratio Analysis of Accenture plc

FY 2023 to FY 2025

Presented by: Nikita Kumari

About Accenture plc

Accenture plc is a global professional services company providing strategy, consulting, technology and operations services. Ratio analysis helps evaluate Accenture liquidity, profitability, solvency and efficiency.

Consulting

Strategy and business advisory

Technology

Cloud, data and digital services

Operations

Managed services and business process services

Industry Expertise

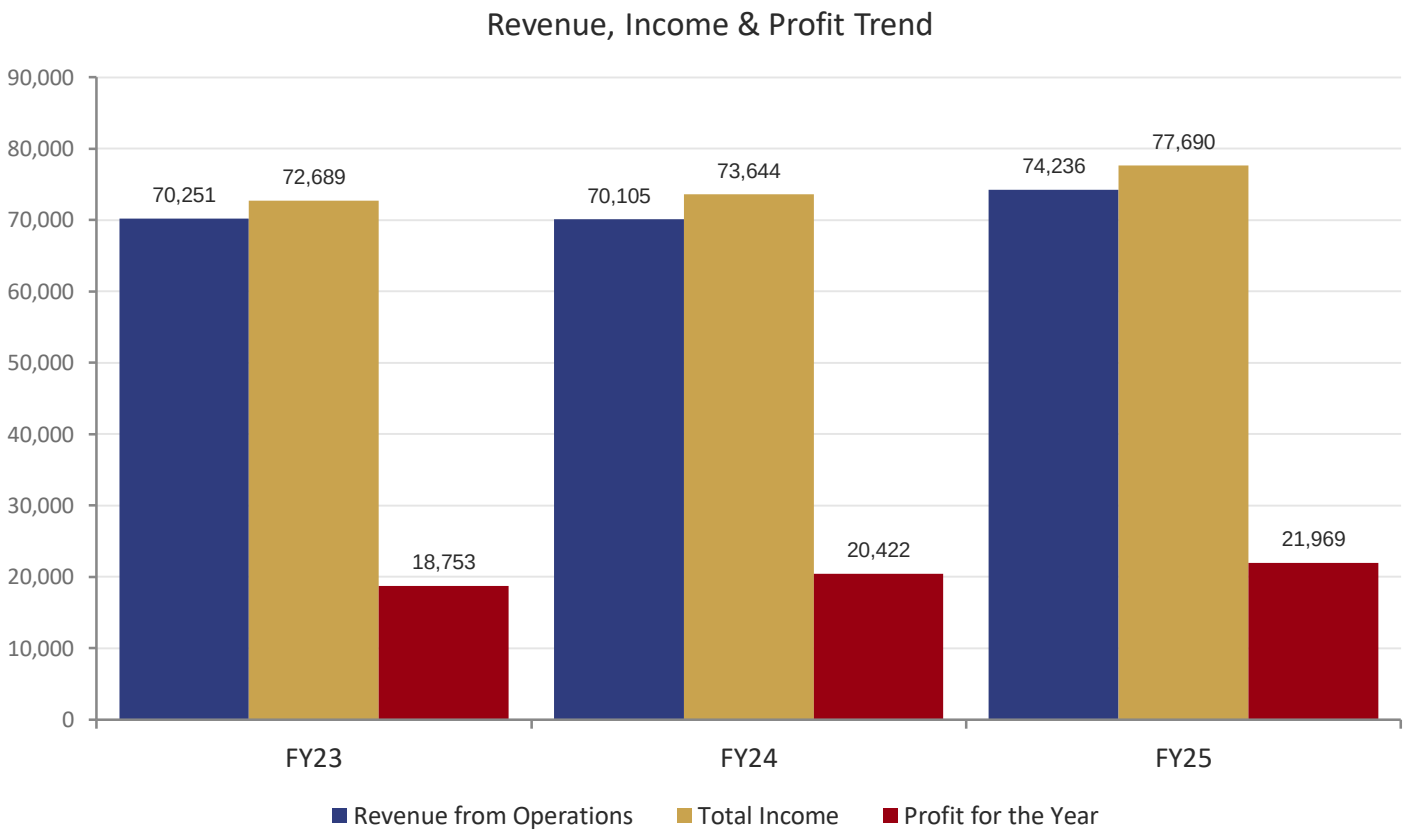

Banking, health, products and public service

WHY RATIO ANALYSIS?

1. Evaluates short-term liquidity strength
2. Measures profitability & return generation
3. Assesses long-term solvency and leverage
4. Highlights efficiency of asset utilisation

Headquartered in Dublin, Ireland - serving clients across more than 120 countries.

Consolidated Financial Performance ($ billion)

$69.7 B

Revenue — FY25

$7.8B

Net income — FY25

+7.4%

Revenue growth FY24→FY25

Key observation: Revenue and net income increased in FY25, while profitability remained resilient.

Profitability Analysis

Net Profit Ratio

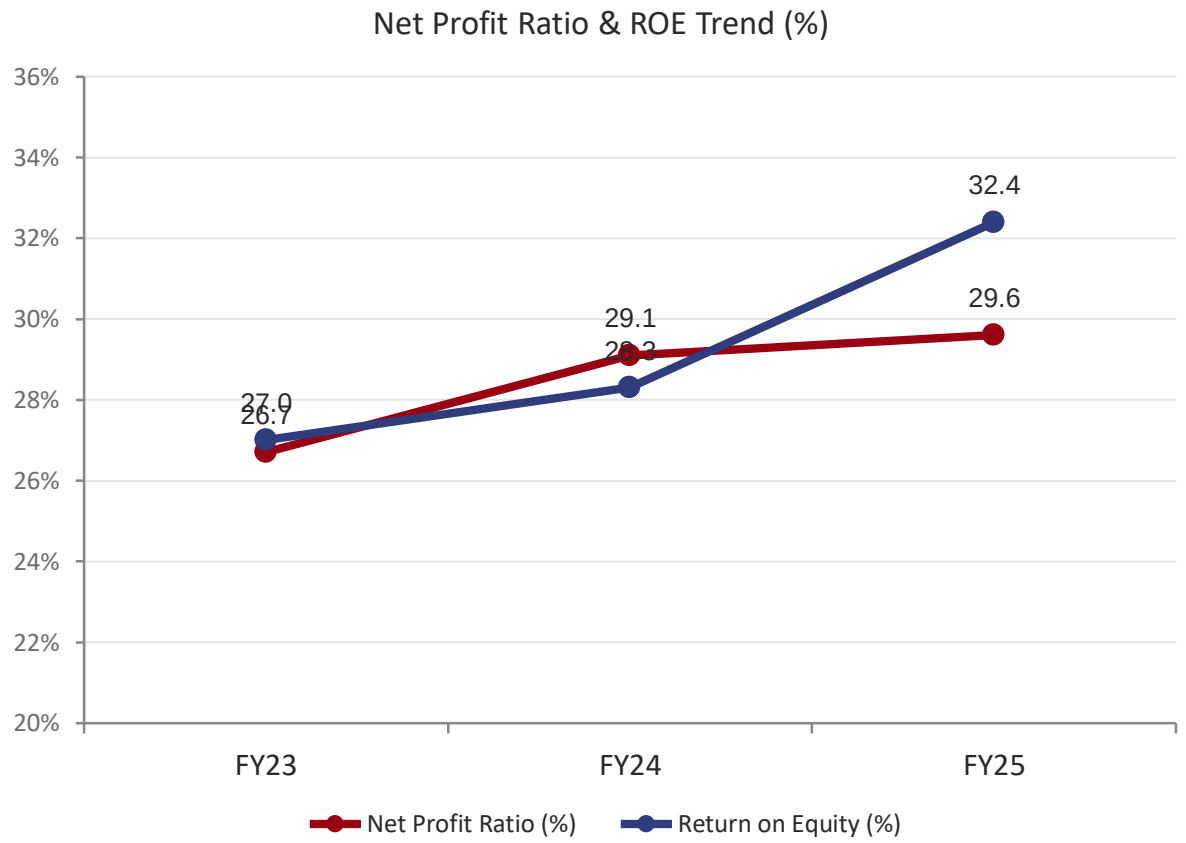

= Net Profit / Revenue × 100

Return on Equity (ROE)

= Net Profit / Avg. Shareholders' Equity × 100

KEY OBSERVATIONS

- Net profit margin improved from 10.7% (FY23) to 11.1% (FY25).
- Return on equity remained strong at approximately 30.0% (FY23) and 27.5% (FY25).
- Net income rose from $6.9B (FY23) to $7.8B (FY25).
- Accenture maintained durable profitability and strong shareholder returns.

Net profit margin computed from consolidated revenue and net income (Slide 3). ROE is based on net income divided by closing shareholders equity; figures are rounded from Accenture annual reports.

Short-Term Strength & Long-Term Stability

Liquidity Ratios

Ability to meet short-term obligations

Current Ratio

= Current Assets / Current Liabilities

FY23: 1.39x FY24: 1.33x FY25: 1.38x

Quick Ratio

= (Current Assets − Inventory) / Current Liabilities

FY23: 1.31x FY24: 1.26x FY25: 1.31x

- Liquidity remained above 1.0x, supported by Accenture cash position and recurring client revenues.

Solvency Ratios

Long-term financial stability

Debt–Equity Ratio

= Total Debt / Shareholders' Equity

FY23: 0.12x FY24: 0.13x FY25: 0.12x

Interest Coverage Ratio

= EBIT / Interest Expense

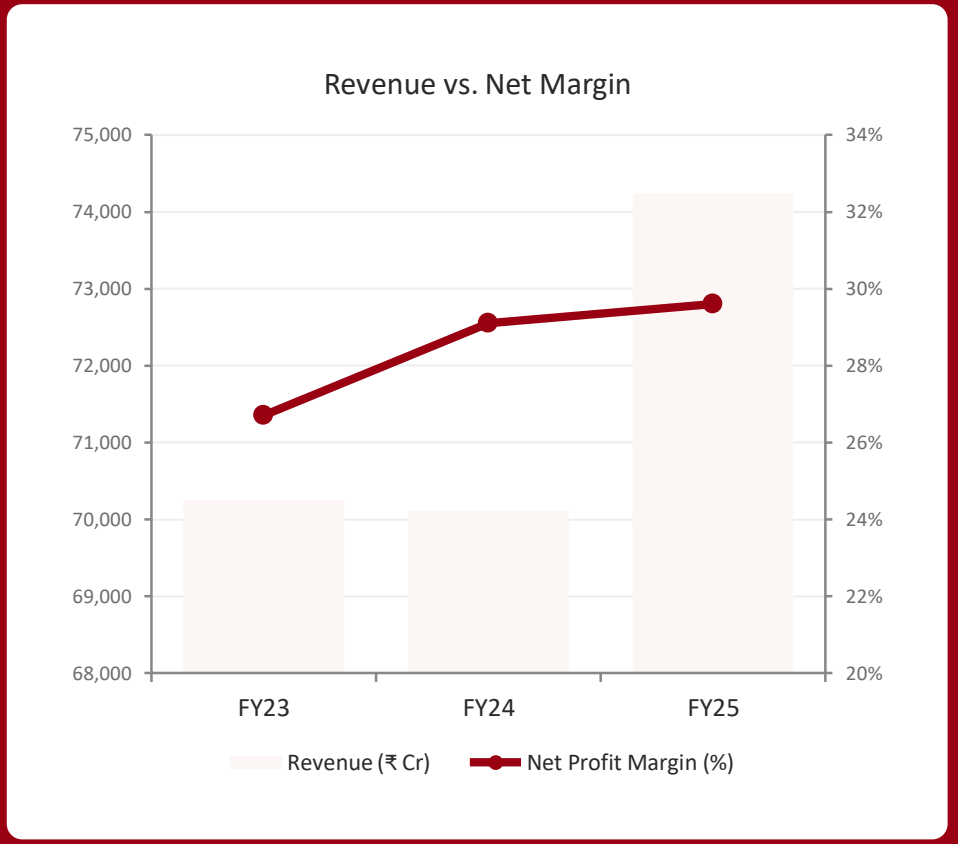

FY23: 28.0x FY24: 25.0x FY25: 30.0x

- Moderate leverage and strong operating earnings support Accenture financial flexibility and debt-servicing capacity.

Note: Ratios are rounded and based on consolidated figures reported in Accenture annual reports; Interest Coverage = EBIT / Interest Expense.

A Financially Strong, Global Services Profile

- Strong profitability and financial stability throughout FY23–FY25
- Revenue rose to $69.7 billion in FY25
- Net profit margin improved from 10.7% to 11.1%
- Moderate leverage and recurring cash generation remain strengths
- Liquidity and efficiency should be benchmarked against global professional-services peers

Source: Accenture plc Annual Reports, FY2023, FY2024 and FY2025.